What factors determine the fee?

Two main factors determine the cost of certification or accreditation: (1) the number of sites to be certified, and (2) the number of additional contractors to be certified/accredited.

The table below provides a cost estimate based on past accreditations. Costs may be higher or lower depending on the complexity of the behavioral safety program, the location and number of sites and contractors, and the number of days required for the site visit. The estimates shown below are for U.S. domestic sites only; costs for sites outside the U.S. may be higher. Please contact CCBS for a quote.
